"IN MEMORIAM"

LINDA GABOURY

On February 19, 1961, we gathered with hearts saddened by the news of the death of our beloved classmate and friend, Linda Gaboury. Linda entered our school in 1957 as an 8th grader; this was her Junior year in high school. We, therefore have reserved her place in our EPILOGUE for 1962.

Class Prophecy

Time: 1972

Setting: Teachers' Lounge of Bellingham's new High School.

Enter: Miss McKenna and Mr. Trudeau

Miss M.: Have you read today's article on Jimmy Eames' flight to the moon?

Mr. T.: Yes, I have. What a spectacular feat that was! We certainly can be proud of him.

Miss M.: That's for sure! It also gives me great pleasure to know that Joseph Whalen and Dennis Roy were in charge of the entire flight. What great engineers they have become.

Mr. T.: Come to think of it, quite a few of our former students have chosen careers in the Armed Services.

Miss M.: That's true. Al Laime and Howie Gabaree have just been named to lead the Blue Angels in their daredevil stunts.

Mr. T.: I wouldn't doubt it; they've been such close friends.

Miss M.: And then there's Fred Streeter and Richard Ridolfi who have just completed a two-year experiment in suboceanic living.

Mr. T.: It must have taken a good deal of courage to endure such an ordeal for that length of time.

Miss M.: By all means! And I understand it has solved many perplexing problems in Ted McFall's program of underwater civilization.

Mr. T.: It has also proven Virginia Rhodes' theory that man can adapt to such an environment. As a nurse in the Navy, she is very much interested in this project due to the recent population boom.

Miss M.: Thank goodness the educational facilities have been able to keep up with the ever-increasing number of students.

Mr. T.: Speaking of education, did you know that Lorraine Gladu has been appointed Dean of Women at the University of Bellingham?

Miss M.: Yes, I did. I've always said she was a born leader. Remember Lucille Desmarais and Connie Giordano? They are now accomplished English professors at the University.

Mr. T.: Oh really? I wasn't aware of that, but I do know that Dick Briere has just received his Ph.D. in Chemistry, and that he is now in charge of a research program.

Miss M.: Isn't that the program in which a drug is being sought to halt the aging process of the human body?

Mr. T.: That's right, and also playing a great part in the program is Marilyn Gavasso, the best noted biologist of the age.

Miss M.: Do you believe that such a drug will ever be discovered?

Mr. T.: Well, I sure hope so. My back has really been bothering me lately.

Miss M.: Why don't you go down to Marchand's Pharmacy and get a prescription? Virginia is the head pharmacist there.

Mr. T.: Oh, is that right? Say, do you realize how many of our former students now operate their own businesses? Sue Laprade, for instance, manages the famous "School of Modern Hairstyling."

Miss M.: And then there's the "G&G Commercial Building" owned by Donald Grenier and Reggie Graves. It houses the offices of such successful people as Paul Szuflicki and Robert Chase, world renowned commercial artists.

Mr. T.: Also, there is "Gaboury's Plumbing Enterprises" owned by our mayor Roger Gaboury. I never thought that he would hold such a high position in politics. He was so misunderstood in high school!

Miss M.: Dick Kornicki is also a prominent citizen. He has attained great wealth through his chain of package stores, which is under the supervision of Gerald Baillargeon.

Mr. T.: They are all to be commended in their success, Jackie Dalpe and Priscilla Thibeault included, for they are private secretaries to the President and Vice-President respectively.

Miss M.: Oh, by the way, I was speaking to Mrs. Goryl yesterday, and she told me Jackie just had another baby.

Mr. T.: Well, I'm not surprised at that. She always said she wanted to settle down quietly with ten children.

Miss M.: It certainly appears as though her wish was granted. No wonder Marion Bruce opened a local nursery—why she could amass a fortune on Jackie's family alone!

Mr. T.: Speaking of children, have you read the latest best seller on child psychology, "Kiddie Capers," written by the noted authority, Agnes Lee?

Miss M.: No, but I will make a point of reading it; after all, Agnes was one of my star psychology pupils in high school, along with Pam Kornicki.

Mr. T.: Is she also engaged in that type of work?

Miss M.: No, she is employed as a physical therapist, working together with Sue Lavallee in the children's ward of the new hospital.

Mr. T.: Do you mean the hospital that was designed by architect Kenny Mowry and constructed by Roger Remillard and Roger Rattie, the famed contractors?

Miss M.: Yes, and besides Pam and Sue, it also employs Bob Rhoads and Dick Tuttle—electronic technicians who install and maintain all those modern pieces of medical equipment.

Mr. T.: Well, there's the bell. We'd better be getting back to class and continue our work in turning out more successes.

Miss M.: Well, we have a high goal to reach, because this has been an exceptionally successful class.

Class History

FRESHMAN YEAR: 1958—1959

We, the Class of 1962, were one of the largest ever to enter B.H.S. Under the supervision of class advisors, Mr. Keough and Mr. Conlan, the election of officers took place. Those seated were Alfred Laime, President; Roger Gaboury, Vice-President; Rachel Lavallee, Secretary; and Lorraine Gládu, Treasurer.

Lady Luck, who had been a stranger to us since the eighth grade, once again failed to make her presence known. Initiation had been dropped upon our arrival and we were dealt the first disappointment of our high school days. Nevertheless, the Senior Class sponsored the Freshman Acquaintance Dance, an event which succeeded in assuring us that we were a part of the school.

By the time February came around, we were well adjusted to the new environment and we conducted our only social event of the year, the Valentine Dance. It was a smashing success, and consequently our treasury grew by a substantial amount.

With the aid of basketball games and more dances, time sped by and the Nantasket trip marked the end of the year. Now we were Sophomores and one step closer to our Washington trip.

Upon returning to B.H.S. in the fall of 1959, we found that our class had diminished by more than a dozen members. In a short while we were well in pursuit of our studies due to the excellent advice and guidance of our class advisors, Mr. White and Mr. Niedzwiadek. Alfred Laime, again our President, was assisted by Roger Gaboury, Vice-President, as well as Secretary, Rachel Lavallee, and Treasurer, Lorraine Gladu.

Our activities were limited to the Sophomore Banquet and the Harvest Hop. Due to the rapidly approaching Christmas Holidays, we voted against the annual banquet, and the hop became the only Sophomore-conducted event. This dance will always be remembered for its highly "imaginative" decorations.

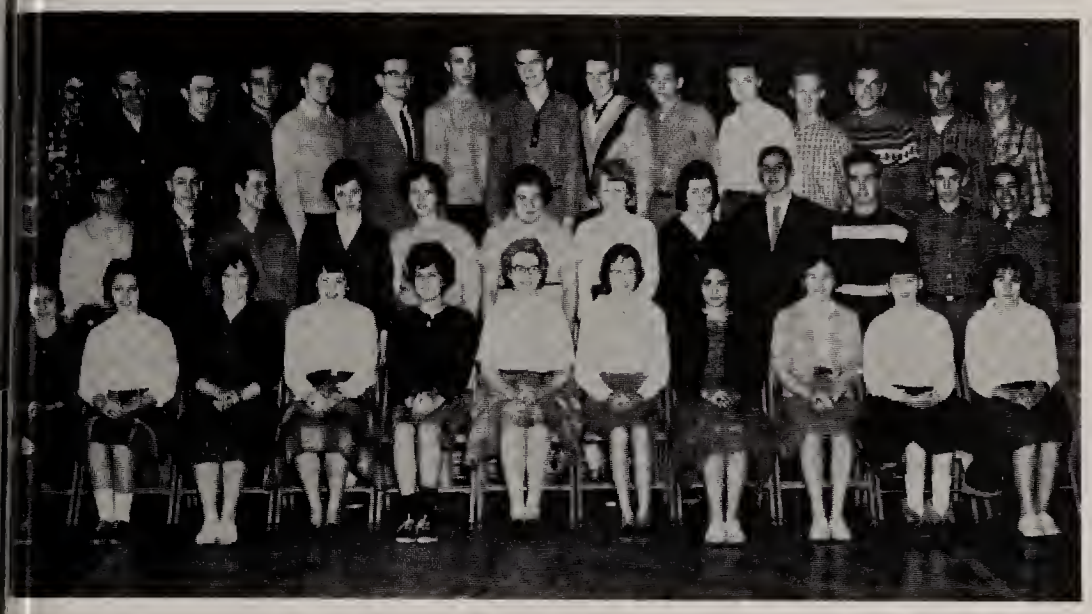
As usual we had our customary run of bad luck, and Mr. White enlisted in the Navy. Although we were sorry to see him go, everyone thought that he had enlisted in self-defense. We didn't know then how we were to miss the doughnuts that he distributed in payment of his debts.

The year was completed with a sigh of relief as we passed our final exams and headed for our traditional Nantasket trip. Another year gone, another senior class gone, and another advance for our class.

JUNIOR YEAR: 1960—1961

As we entered B.H.S. as Juniors, we looked back on pleasant memories, but better still we looked ahead to the new experiences we would encounter in the following two years. Once more the size of our class was reduced, for we had left a number of friends behind.



Electing class officers was again first on the agenda and those slated were President, Roger Gaboury; Vice-President, Joseph Whalen; Secretary, Suzanne Laprade; and Treasurer, Lorraine Gladu. Poor Lorraine! After carefully collecting dues and keeping records for two years, she was told that the Washington trip had been canceled. Although it was sad news, we recovered quickly, for soon we were choosing our class rings. We are proud to say that the design we selected has since become standard.

This was by no means an idle year for us since we had many activities; one of them was the publication of the Student Voice. Under the supervision of our class advisor, Mrs. Kelley, we spent many long hours in editing one of the finest school papers B.H.S. has ever seen.

After our Thanksgiving Dance our lives were comparatively quiet until the arrival of our long-awaited rings. The little time we could spare from polishing them was spent in showing them off to underclassmen. With the year more than half over, wc anxiously looked forward to the grandest event of the year . . . the Prom.

On the night of April 7, more than fifty elegantly dressed couples danced to the theme of "Over the Rainbow," played by Gene King's Orchestra. Roger Gaboury and Connie Giordano, accompanied by princesses Pamela Kornicki and Virginia Marchand, made up the Royal Court and were treated as such at the Lord Fox, where we later dined. All good things must come to an end and with the passing of the Prom we had but two months remaining in our Junior Year. These sped by and another Senior Class graduated, leaving us to take their place.

SENIOR YEAR: 1961—1962

Beginning our final year full of pep and confidence, we were greeted by a new principal, Mr. Keough. As in the preceding years, the election of officers headed the list of events and those elected were: Roger Gaboury, President; Alfred Laime, Vice-President; Jacqueline Dalpe, Secretary; and Joseph Whalen, Treasurer. Miss McKenna and Mr. Trudeau were our class advisors.

The first of many dances we conducted was the Freshman Acquaintance Dance which was a complete success. The profit from these dances provided the funds used in publishing our yearbook, The Epilogue. This being our major project of the year, we gave it our best effort and spent many long and weary evenings burning the midnight oil at staff meetings. After many sleepless hours, empty gas tanks, and headaches in general, our yearbook was finally completed and sent off to the printer's shop.

To everyone's amazement, our luck finally took a turn for the better and driver's education was reintroduced into the school system. After this year's class of senior girls, it will probably be discontinued again!

In this year above all others, time has literally flown by; before us now lie the joy and excitement of our Commencement Ball, as well as the smiles and tears of graduation itself. Being here together for the last time, we suddenly realize that all our work has been worth the trouble. We now feel a deep appreciation for the aid which the faculty, the citizens of Bellingham, and the entire student body have given us, making these past four years memorable to each and every one of us.

Blackhawks

The 61-62 basketball team led by Captain George Laprade captured the Tri-County League with a clean slate; not one single loss was chalked up to the high-flying Blackhawks. This record enabled Coach Frank Flynn for the first time in his coaching career to enter his team in the top-rate Tech Tourney. The first game of this tournament turned out to be a heart-breaker—a 44-48 loss to Harwich, the first and only defeat of the season.

The team was successful in its bid for the Woonsocket Retail Trade Board Trophy with two easy wins over Blackstone. An additional honor was conferred on the Blackhawks when G. Laprade and J. Bonollo were placed on the All-Star trophy list. Even though we will lose three star players—Bob Rhoads, George Laprade, and Bob Aubin—our prospects for next season remain bright due to several promising underclassmen.

DAR

Each year a senior girl is selected by the faculty and student body to represent Bellingham High School at the state conference of the Massachusetts Daughters of the American Revolution. The girl chosen must excel in the following qualities desirable in good citizenship: dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. The 1962 award has been granted to Lorraine Gladu.

Student Government

A second distinction earned by a member of the Senior Class is that of Student Government Representative. Every year an outstanding student is selected by the student body to serve as their delegate to Massachusetts legislature. Leadership, character, and an awareness of civic responsibility are recognized in the conferring of this honor. The 1962 recipient is Dennis Roy.

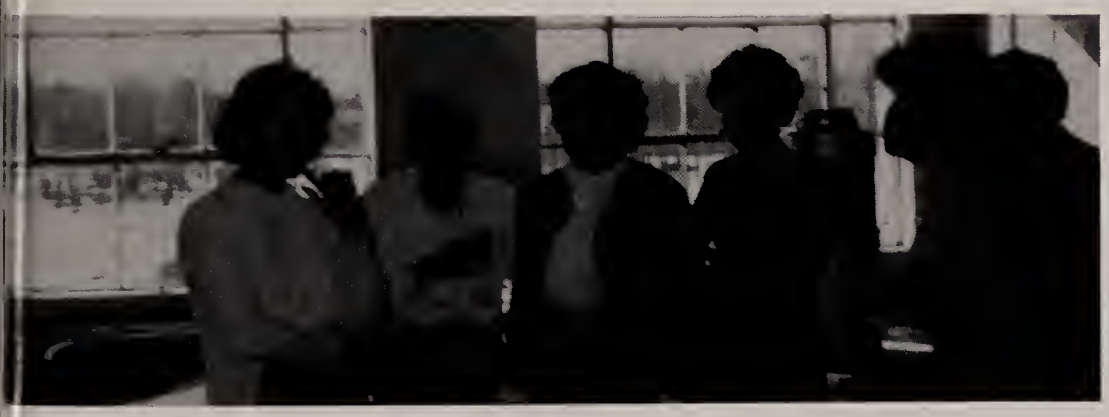
So, I've got a big mouth!

I can't stand being called BUCKY BEAVER!

How do you think we financed our yearbook?



What a lively group!

Oh, no, not another group of driver education students!

Class Will

We, the class of 1962, of Bellingham High School, in the County of Norfolk, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being of sound mind and body, and realizing our end to be near, do hereby make, publish, and declare null and void all former instruments, promises, and wills heretofore published.

To Mr. Minichiello we leave a big new junior-senior high school.

To Mr. Keough we leave an automatic smoke detector which not only sounds an alarm but points out the offender.

To Miss McKenna we leave a songbook entitled "Songs to Tranquilize a Class By."

To Mr. Trudeau we leave a clean classroom.

To Mrs. Kelley we leave the last set of old beaten up textbooks (it seems that we were always the last class to hand in the old ones.)

To Mrs. Baker we leave the ingredients for a book which could be entitled "Where the Boys Were."

To Miss Wallace we leave the over energetic girls' basketball team.

To Mr. Conlan we leave the latest thing to get around the golf course (a pair of sneakers)

To Mr. Niedzwiadek we leave a package of life savers to keep around his pool.

To Mr. Flynn we leave our promise to keep his reducing secret. (Hint: watch him at the games.)

To Mr. Price we, the last of the original Tigers, leave a tremendous R-O-A-R!!!

To Mr. DeHertogh we leave the use of an electric razor in case he decides to do away with that mustache.

To Mr. Fleming we leave a dollar bill to pay a senior debt.

To Mr. Lynch and Mr. Kramarz we leave a copy of our yearbook so they may know who makes all that noise while they are trying to conduct classes.

Joseph Whalen leaves all the headaches of being treasurer of the Senior Class to the lucky junior who fills the position next year.

Richard Tuttle leaves his ability to be late almost every morning (even through he lives just a three-minute walk from the school), to Sue and Kathy Lafond.

Priscilla Thibeault leaves Roger Brothers to all the lucky future senior girls.

Paul Szuflicki leaves his marvelous singing voice to Miss Wallace.

Fred Streeter leaves his lost artistic ability to next year's yearbook artist. (He'll need it!)

Richard Ridolfi leaves his beautiful curly red locks to a girl this time.

Robert Rhoads leaves to Tommy Tremba his extra tall uniform, which Mr. Flynn hopes he'll grow into.

Roger Rattie bequeaths to Mrs. Kelley, a quiet study period.

Kenneth Mowry leaves to Allan Cote a book on how to get along with Mr. Fleming.

Virginia Rhodes leaves her secret for being quiet to Miss Wallace (she can pass it on to any student she wishes).

Ted McFall leaves his birth certificate to show that his real name is Ted, and not Theodore.

Dennis Roy leaves to the editor of next year's yearbook a lasso. (It may help when he is trying to round up his material and members of the staff!)

Roger Remillard leaves his slightly used hair scissors to Ronnie Randall, perhaps he'll get more use out of them.

Virginia Marchand leaves two sisters and one cousin to all those lucky teachers.

Alfred Laime leaves his book of absentee excuses to Charlie Ambler, although there aren't many left.

Sue Lavallee leaves all her nicknames to Jackie Gabaree.

Sue Laprade leaves the little she has to anyone who can find it.

Richard Kornicki leaves much, much more quietly than he entered.

Pamela Kornicki leaves her megaphone to Mrs. Kelley to give to anyone else with a soft voice.

Donald Grenier leaves Mrs. Kelley's rankbook and filing cabinet to her next year's helper.

Reginald Graves leaves the great Mr. Conlan to all those future underclassmen.

Jacqueline Goryl leaves her broken heart to anyone who wants to pick up the pieces.

Lorraine Gladu leaves her ability to get along with teachers to anyone who needs it.

Connie Giordano leaves to Mary Beth Fafard her ability to get up early and still miss the bus.

Marilyn Gavasso leaves to any future A.A. member her ability to sell tickets and miss all the games.

Roger Gaboury leaves his ability to talk Miss McKenna out of tests, to next year's psychology class. (They'll need a whole class to do all the filibustering that Rog does.)

James Eames leaves his sister, Roberta, to anyone with courage.

Lucille Desmarais leaves her ability to get good marks to Adele Durso.

Robert Chase leaves his pencils, brushes, crayons, erasers, and his ability to daydream in class to any imaginative artist.

Jackie Dalpe leaves a year's supply of lunches to Ronnie Lussier and Normand Langlais.

Marion Bruce leaves to Miss Wallace a full period of Office Practice.

Gerald Baillargeon leaves his broad smile to anyone ambitious enough to wash it off his face.

Richard Briere leaves a perfect driving record (up to the publishing deadline, anyway)
